TAFTVILLE AFFAIRS

Old Oak Tree Estimated to Be 200 Years of Age Blown Down in Recent Storm.

A giant oak, measuring more than thirteen feet in circumference at the bottom, was blown down by the wind Sunday on the land of Joseph Paradis near the Taftville reservoir. This great tree, undoubtedly the largest and probably the oldest of its kind in this vicinity, was a curiosity with its great spreading limbs, under whose shade local tradition says the Indians of years rested in bygone years, when wary of the chase or long journeys. The tree was probably more than two hundred years old, and one of the oldest residents says it was apparently as large sixty years ago as when it was destroyed. The tree was badly shattered as it rent asunder by a charge of dynamite.

Going to Scotland.
A number of local young men have completed arrangements for a straw-ride this (Saturday) evening. It is expected that about 20 couples will make the trip to Scotland road where they will attend a dance in Scotland road hall.

Sacred Concert.
The sacred concert that was to have been given at the Moenischer clubhouse last Sunday night has been postponed because of the severe storm. It will be held at the clubhouse tomorrow (Sunday). The music is to be furnished by Tubbs' band.

Small Matters of Interest.
Friday, the first Friday of the month, there were special Lenten services at the Sacred Heart church. Both the mass and the evening service were well attended.

Unclaimed Letters.
There are unclaimed letters at the Taftville post office for the week ending March 7, for Miss Anna Brault and Miss Helen Clark.

Joseph Emery of Occum is ill at his home with grip.

J. P. Lamoine of Occum has gone to Worcester, Mass., where he is to be employed in a manufacturing plant.

Alfred LeBlanc of Lisbon who has been visiting relatives in northern New Hampshire the past two weeks has returned.

held. The announcement was also made that the congressional naval committee was about to make a visit to New London to inspect the possibilities of locating a navy yard on the Thames river, which was then a large pond.
Interest in all the people and commu-

further the objects of the meeting:
Henry B. Norton, chairman; L. M.
Buckingham, H. H. Starkweather, Lorenzo Blackstone, H. H. Oswood, J.
D. Mowry, A. W. Prentice, Isaac Johnson, and St. M. Andrews.

David Young, Col. Rowland will furnish an instructor, every young man probably of the age of 17 years and over will have a chance to learn the use of the rifle.

& Company, of London, have a launch at Mystic today for Capt. Colt of this city a sidewheel steamer 150 feet long,

The congressional naval committee will visit Washington next Wednesday March 8 and reach New London March 10th to examine the capabilities of that place for a navy yard. It is a matter of the utmost importance and interest. We most extremely hope that the report will be in favor of locating the new navy on the Thames river.
